

Fashion Week Internships Program Summary

FWI internship programs are designed to provide applicants with the opportunity to develop and expand their knowledge of the international fashion industry, interning in dynamic and relevant work settings, in the seven FWI capitals of fashion.

Working with some of fashion's brightest and best industry designers, brands, fashion houses, PR agencies, retail groups, magazines and influencers, FWI interns get 'up and close' and 'hands on' industry experience, building great professional connections, and developing an international mindset in readiness for joining the global workplace.

Program Benefits

FWI internships deliver numerous career and personal development benefits.

Not only do they deliver valuable real-world industry experience, FWI interns develop their transferable skill-set, strengthen their resumes, and in many cases serve as the first step in an applicant's prospective career path.

Being able to network and learn from experienced industry professionals helps develop confidence and belief in your abilities, whilst gaining international work experience sets you apart as a highly attractive job candidate post-internship.

When Can I Go, and What are the Fees?

Programs begin monthly all year round, and range in length from 4-weeks to 48-weeks, allowing applicants to tailor their programs to suit their schedules and availability. Program prices begin at £650.00 / $950.00, and include a guaranteed internship, pre-departure advice and orientation, and access to our in-house Support Team who will assist in preparing you for your FWI experience. (Flights, visa, and accommodation costs are not included).
